About the Community Prevention and Wellness Initiative (CPWI)

CPWI is a partnership of state agencies, counties, schools and local prevention coalitions supporting communities in preventing alcohol and other drug abuse and its negative consequences. Our highest priority is to reduce underage drinking among 8th and 10th grade students. By providing evidence-based practices and promoting the positive changes in communities, we can build healthier communities.

About the Coalition: Communities and Schools Working Together

Panther Country Coalition (PCC) is a grassroots volunteer organization formed in August of 2013 to mobilize the Cusick community. Our goal is to prevent and reduce youth substance abuse. We work in partnership with youth, law enforcement, local government, healthcare, faith-based organizations, volunteer groups, youth organizations, parents, businesses and community members to support our youth living substance free lives. PCC is governed by citizen volunteers and representatives from local agencies. We work in collaboration with the Cusick School District, Northeast WA Educational Service District, The Kalispel Tribe, The Town of Cusick and Pend Oreille County.

Cusick and Usk have a rich history. The earliest inhabitants were Indian tribes. Archaeological evidence shows Native American presence as early as 11,000 years ago. In 1809 the North West Company explorer David Thompson (1770-1857) made his first trip down the Pend Oreille River. The Indians he found were the Kalispels, which means "camas people," after a root that was their staple food, and the Pend Oreilles. The Kalispels have a reservation near Usk and are still a prominent part of the community. By the 1850's timber was the major extractive industry. Today the main employers are the Kalispel Tribe, Ponderay Newsprint Co., and the Cusick School District.

About Prevention Programs in our Community

Some of our goals and strategies include decreasing favorable attitudes among youth towards drinking and marijuana use, increasing their perception of harm and increasing knowledge of the risks associated with alcohol and marijuana use. We are implementing anti-drug messages and programs that bring awareness to our community about underage drinking and drug use.

Another goal is to increase effective communication between parents and youth. We are offering free parenting programs to include Strengthening Families and Guiding Good Choices. Collaborating with our partners to better understand our unique local conditions remains a high priority.
