DIMENSIONS: Tobacco Free Program

Fundamentals Training

Designed to teach the necessary skills to facilitate tobacco-free living, this innovative program provides training on effective community education, the latest information about tobacco addiction, Electronic Nicotine Delivery Systems (or ENDS) products, and cessation strategies.

Trainees learn motivational engagement strategies, community referrals, educational activities, individual and group treatments, and policy change strategies. In addition, learn how to promote positive behavior change in individuals interested in tobacco cessation. This training is intended for administrators, healthcare providers, and peer specialists.

Offered by the Behavioral Health & Wellness Program from the University of Colorado, School of Medicine
